WHY TERESA LAGOMARSINO, GGBF's MOTHER, IS RIN 7101

The above table derives its information from records of birth of Tasso's Santa Margherita Parish Church and those records establish that the mother of Giuseppe Gio Batta Ferrea and his six siblings was named Teresa Lagomarsino and that her father was named Giuseppe Lagomarsino. The records of birth of two of those children, Catterina (born 12 January 1860) and Maddalena (born 5 July 1864), establish, in turn, that Teresa's father, Giuseppe Lagomarsino, died between the dates of birth of those two children (12 January 1860 and 5 July 1864), he being referrred to as still alive in the earlier record and deceased in the latter record. And as shown from footnote 1, recourse to the records of deaths occurring in Tasso between 12 January 1860 and 5 July 1864 establish that two men named Giuseppe Lagomarsino died in Tasso between those two dates.

The following table reflects information from the 18 May 1848 record of marriage of Teresa Lagomarsino to Stefano Ferrera. It is the only record of marriage in either Lumarzo or Tasso at any time of any Teresa Lagomarsino (or Maria Teresa Lagomarsino) to any Stefano Ferrera:

TERESA'S MARRIAGE TO STEFANO FERRERA
DATE	NAME	BIRTHPLACE	RESIDENCE	HER FATHER HER MOTHER	GRANDFATHER GRANDFATHER
18 May 1848	Teresa Lagomsno	Tasso	Tasso	di Giuseppe di Geronima	fu Andrea fu Tomasso

[1] Note: The following two records of deaths of men named Giuseppe Lagomarsino appear in Tasso records between 12 January 1860 and 5 July 1864:

1. 14 September 1860, Giuseppe Lagomarsino, age 74, native of Tasso, domiciled in Tasso, son of "del fu Domenico of Tasso and della fu Maria Lagomarsino"

2. 25 November 1862, Giuseppe Lagomarsino, age 77, native of Lumarzo, domiciled in Tasso, son of "del fu Lorenzo and della ful Francesca Schenone"

The record of marriage from which the above table derives its information establishes that the Giuseppe Lagomarsino who was Teresa's father is the Giuseppe who was the son of Andrea. The record of that 18 May 1848 marriage in Tasso says of Teresa:

> E Teresa Lagomarsini di Giuseppe > d'età d'anni venti __[word erasure wiped[2]]__ nativa di Tasso domiciliata > in Tasso Parrocchia di Tasso > figlia del vivente Giuseppe Lagomarsini fu Andrea domiciliato in Tasso[3]
> e della vivente Geronima Lagomarsini fu Tommaso domiciliata in Tasso[4]

The fact she is reported at the time of marriage to be "20 years of age" and a native of Tasso suggests that she was born in Tasso between 19 May 1827 and 18 May 1828. The only records of births in Tasso of girls named Teresa Lagomarsino for a more expanded period of time, between 1824 and 1830, are as follows (there are no gaps in the records):

28 Jan 1825 (in a Tasso record, died young):
Teresa Lagomarsino
f. Giuseppe Lagomarsino fu Stefano
m. Vittoria Lagomarsino di Domenico

15 Nov 1827 (in a Tasso record):
Teresa Lagomarsino
f. Giuseppe Lagomarsino fu Stefano
m. Vittoria Lagomarsino di Domenico

17 Jun 1827 (in a Tasso record):
Teresa Lagomarsino
f. Stefano Lagomarsino fu Andrea
m. Rosa Rosasco fu Angelo

23 Aug 1828 (in a Tasso record):
Maria Teresa Lagomarsino [Schagnelli]
f. Giovanni Lagomarsino fu Bartolomeo
m. Geronima Lagomarsino [sic] fu Camello

However, the record of death on 3 May 1877 of the Teresa Lagomarsino who married Stefano Ferrera states she was "nata in Tasso" and was at the time of death age "50 years," placing her birth between 4 May 1826 and 3 May 1827 (15 November 1827 falls outside of that period).

Since the year 2010, after photographs of the Tasso parish registers were captured, the database has recorded that Teresa's parents were Giuseppe Lagomarsino fu Stefano and Vittoria Lagomarsino di Domenico. The choice of that record was based on the assumption that her 1848 record of marriage and her 1877 record of death both were correct in reporting that she was age 20 at the time of her 18 May 1848 marriage (meaning her birth was between 19 May 1827 and 18 May 1828) and age 50 at the time of her 3 May 1877 death (meaning her birth was between 4 May 1826 and 3 May 1827), that she was a native of Tasso, and that her father's name was [2] The word erased by wiping pertained to her age and in the copy of the record sent to the State Archives (https://familysearch.org/ark:/61903/3:1:33SQ-G15L-WNB), no erasure appears.

Giuseppe; only one record of birth in Tasso fits all three criteria (highlighted in pink), with one nearly qualifying record pertaining to a baby girl born in 1825 who died at five months of age (the older sibling of the one born on 15 November 1827). The choice of that 15 November 1827 record of birth as being the one pertaining to the Teresa Lagomarsino who was the mother of Giuseppe Gio Batta Ferrea discounted the fact that on 14 September 1860, there occurred the death of Giuseppe Lagomarsino who died in Tasso at age 74, a native of Tasso, domiciled in Tasso, son of del fu Domenico of Tasso and della fu Maria Lagomarsino (see footnote 1). The reason for discounting the information in that record of death is the fact there are irreconcilable differences between what is stated in (1) the record of the 1848 marriage of Teresa Lagomarsino, (2) the 1877 record of death of Teresa Lagomarsino, (3) the records of deaths between 1860 and 1864 of men named Giuseppe Lagomarsino, and (4) the records of births in Tasso of girls named Teresa Lagomarsino born between 1824 and 1830. The 1848 record of marriage and the 1877 record of death both lead one to expect there to exist a record of birth in Tasso in about 1827 of a Teresa Lagomarsino as a daughter of Giuseppe Lagomarsino, with the record of marriage leading one to expect the paternal grandfather to be Andrea, the mother to be Geronima Lagomarsino, and the maternal grandfather to be Tommaso. But none of the Tasso records of births matches all of those criteria.

Even when in 2014 photographs were captured of the records of births recorded in Lumarzo's Santa Maria Maddalena Parish Church and there was discovered the record of the 17 February 1827 birth, apparently in Lumarzo (though it does not specifically state), of a Teresa Lagomarsino the daughter of Giuseppe Lagomarsino, son of Domenico, and Geronima Lagomarsino, daughter of Desiderio, the information from that record was not substituted in for that of the Teresa Lagomarsino who was born on 15 November 1827 and whose parents were Giuseppe Lagomarsino fu Stefano and Vittoria Lagomarsino di Domenico. The substitution was not executed in the database because irreconcilable differences existed between data of that record and other records as well. The four records of births in Lumarzo of girls named Teresa Lagomarsino for the expanded period of time between 1824 and 1830 are as follows (there are no gaps in the records):

30 Dec 1826 (in a Lumarzo record):
Teresa Lagomarsino
f. Rolando Lagomarsino di Andrea
m. Paola Perazzo di Giovanni Battista

17 Feb 1827 (in a Lumarzo record):
Teresa Lagomarsino
f. Giuseppe Lagomarsino di Domenico
m. Geronima Lagomarsino di Desiderio

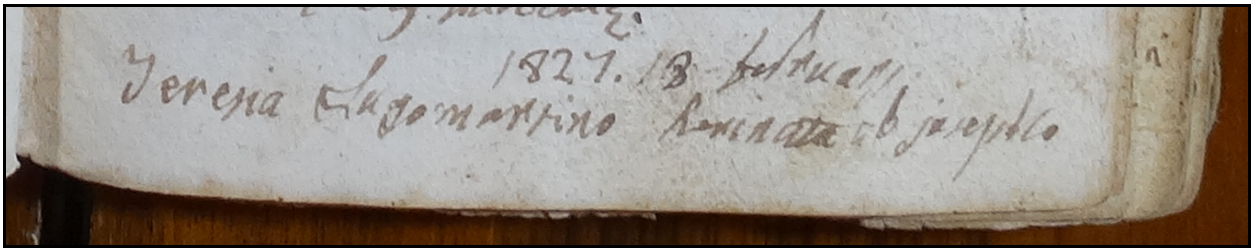

5 Feb 1827 (in a Lumarzo record):
Teresa Lagomarsino
f. Antonio Lagomarsino fu Giovanni Battista
m. Maria Schenone di Sebastiano

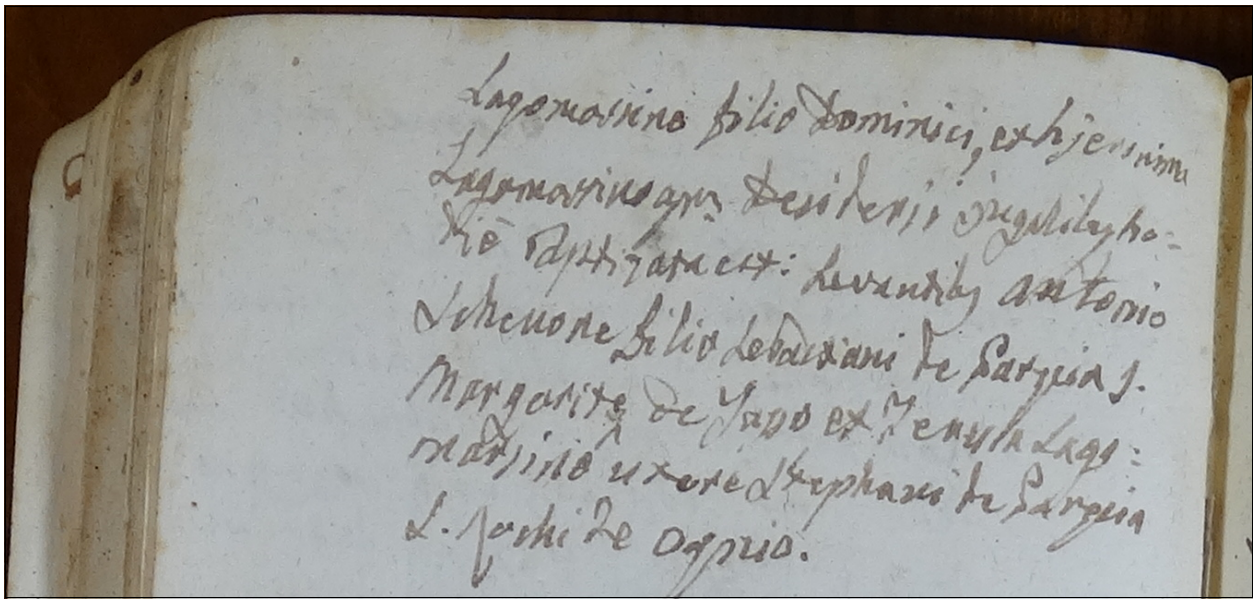

8 Jun 1830 (in a Lumarzo record):
Teresa Lagomarsino
f. Lorenzo Lagomarsino fu Blasio
m. Vittoria Lagomarsino di Andrea

The two reasons relied upon for not replacing the 15 November 1827 record of birth of the Teresa Lagomarsino born to Giuseppe Lagomarsino fu Stefano and Vittoria Lagomarsino di Domenico with the 17 February 1827 Lumarzo record of birth of the Teresa Lagomarsino born to Giuseppe di Domenico and Geronima di Desiderio were (1) the possible birthplace of Lumarzo (as suggested in that 17 February 1827 Lumarzo record of birth) did not match the 1848 record of marriage and the 1877 record of death (which both reported that Teresa was a native of Tasso, though the 17 February 1827 record of birth does not positively assert the birth occurred in Lumarzo); and (2) the names of Teresa's paternal and maternal grandparents reported in that 17 February 1827 record of birth (respectively, Domenico and Desiderio) did not match the 1848 record of marriage (which reported that Teresa's paternal and maternal grandparents were, respectively, Andrea and Tommaso).

However, upon closer reflection, now in June of 2018, it seems, at least at first blush, to reconsider the possibility that it may be more appropriate to choose the 17 February 1827 record of birth, in Lumarzo, of the Teresa Lagomarsino born to Giuseppe di Domenico and Geronima di Desiderio because the 18 May 1848 record of marriage indicates that Teresa's parents were both alive at that time (figlia del vivente Giuseppe Lagomarsini fu Andrea domiciliato in Tasso e della vivente Geronima Lagomarsini fu Tommaso domiciliata in Tasso). Indeed, Giuseppe was present and marked his signature with an "X" at the time. It seems assured that the 18 May 1848 record of marriage would be correct in naming Teresa's parents, who were then both alive and who attended the wedding, and not necessarily correct in assuming that her place of birth was not Tasso simply because it appeared in a 17 February 1827 Lumarzo record of birth. Indeed, the fact that the 1848 record of marriage reports Teresa's birthplace as Tasso is not contradicted by the 1827 Lumarzo record of birth which does not specifically state her birth occurred in Lumarzo:

Lagomarsino filio Dominici, ex hieronima Lagomarsino pm Desiderio jugalibus ho-die baptizata est: Levantibus Antonio Schenone filio Sebastiani di Parqia S.
Margarita de Tasso et Teresa Lago-marsino uxore d Stephani de Parqua
S. Rochi de Ognio

Thus, one of the reasons for not replacing the 15 November 1827 record of birth of the Teresa Lagomarsino born to Giuseppe Lagomarsino fu Stefano and Vittoria Lagomarsino di Domenico with the 17 February 1827 record of birth in Lumarzo of the Teresa Lagomarsino born to Giuseppe di Domenico and Geronima di Desiderio is a very weak reason, with little to support it other than the assumption that a Lumarzo record of birth that does not specifically mention the place of birth is evidence of a birth in Lumarzo (which is not necessarily the case).

However, the other reason for not replacing the 15 November 1827 record of birth of the Teresa Lagomarsino born to Giuseppe Lagomarsino fu Stefano and Vittoria Lagomarsino di Domenico with the 17 February 1827 record of birth in Lumarzo of the Teresa Lagomarsino born to Giuseppe di Domenico and Geronima di Desiderio remains valid: the names of Teresa's paternal and maternal grandparents reported in the 17 February 1827 record of birth (respectively, the then-living Domenico and then-deceased Desiderio) does not match the 1848 record of marriage (which reports that Teresa's paternal and maternal grandfathers were, respectively, the then-deceased Andrea and the then-deceased Tommaso).

Searches in the Tasso and Lumarzo records do not reveal the presence of any men named "Domenico Andrea Lagomarsino" or "Andrea Domenico Lagomarsino" or "Desiderio Tommaso Lagomarsino" or "Tommaso Desiderio Lagomarsino," so this persisting irreconcilable difference posed by the 18 May 1848 record of marriage and the 17 February 1827 record of birth is not resolved by the possibility that the paternal and maternal grandfathers' names were double names that could have accommodated two usages (such as by using one of the two names in one record and the other of the two names in another record).

However, searches in the records of Tasso and Lumarzo do reveal the following family groups (1) of men named Domenico or Andrea who in the period between about 1770 and 1811[5] were fathering children (among whom could have been a son named Giuseppe) and (2) of men named Desiderio or Tommaso who in that period could have fathered a daughter named Geronima:

[5] The years 1770 and 1811 are chosen because Teresa Lagomarsino's 18 May 1848 record of marriage and 1877 record of death both point to the year 1827 as the approximate year of her birth and thus her own mother likely would have been no older than about age 45 when Teresa was born (meaning her mother's birth likely was no earlier than about 1782) and no younger than about age 16 when Teresa was born (meaning her mother's birth likely was no later than about 1811). Teresa's father therefore was likely born between about 1770 and 1811.

Family groups of men named Domenico Lagomarsino and men named Andrea Lagomarsino who in the period between about 1770 and 1811 were fathering children among whom was or could have been a son named Giuseppe (only one family group meets these criteria[6]):

RIN 6405 Domenico Lagomarsino (whose wife's name is not mentioned), the father of Giuseppe Lagomarsino whose wife was named Geronima, parents of Teresa Lagomarsino born on 17 Februay 1827.

During the relevant 1770-1811 period there do exist two records of births of males named Giuseppe Lagomarsino born to a father named either Domenico or Andrea (though it is not known from the research whether they themselves are fathers of the Teresa Lagomarsino who was born in 1827):

RIN 6868 Giuseppe Lagomarsino, born 8 October 1778 in Lumarzo, son of Andrea Lagomarsino (RIN 5719) and Cattarina Lagomarsino (RIN 6863)

RIN 6386 Giuseppe Lagomarsino (birthdate not yet discerned), whose wife is named Teresa Consiglieri (RIN 6388), son of Andrea Lagomarsino (RIN 6387), father of Maria Rosa Lagomarsino (RIN 6385), born 18 December 1841

Of the above three possible family groups to which Giuseppe, father of Teresa Lagomarsino, could have been born, the first (RIN 6405) has both an advantage and a disadvantage in reporting the wife of Giuseppe as Geronima, an advantage in that it partially matches and partially does not match what is stated in the 18 February 1827 record of birth of Teresa Lagomarsino, which reports that the names of Teresa's mother and maternal grandfather are Geronima and Desiderio ("Teresia Lagomarsino heri nata ab josepho Lagomarsino filio Dominici, ex hieronima Lagomarsino pm Desiderio") but, at the same time, a disadvantage in that it partially matches and partially does not match what is reported in the 18 May 1848 record of marriage of Teresa Lagomarsino, which reports that the names of Teresa's mother and maternal grandfather, respectively, are Geronima and Tommaso ("della vivente Geronima Lagomarsini fu Tommaso").

The other two records of births of males named Giuseppe Lagomarsino born to a father named either Domenico or Andrea during the relevant 1770-1811 period (RIN 6868 and RIN 6386) are disadvantaged to an even greater extent, to the point if disqualifying them as Teresa's father, because they both fail to identify the wife of the Giuseppe as Geronima, and the 18 February 1827 record of birth of Teresa Lagomarsino reports her mother's name as Geronima.

[6] Standing alone, it is circular reasoning to conclude that this family group is the one that includes Giuseppe Lagomarsino, the father of Teresa Lagomarsino. But the absence of other family groups that meet the criteria of having a head of household named Domenico Lagomarsino or Andrea Lagomarsino who in the period between about 1780 and 1711 were fathering children among whom was or could have been a son named Giuseppe at least serves to suggest that this family group (of RIN 6405) is that of Teresa's paternal grandparents.

Family groups of men named Desiderio Lagomarsino and men named Tommaso Lagomarsino who in the period between about 1770 and 1811 were fathering children among whom was or could have been a daughter named Geronima (only one family group meets these criteria[7]):

RIN 5710 Desiderio Lagomarsino whose wife was named Paola Lagomarsino, the father of Geronima Lagomarsino born 17 August 1805 in Lumarzo, the wife of Giuseppe Lagomarsino, parents of Teresa Lagomarsino born on 17 February 1827.[8]

Other other males named either Desiderio Lagomarsino or Tommaso Lagomarsino who were fathering children in the period between about 1770 and 1811 are:

RIN 6044 Tommaso Lagomarsino whose wife was named Anna Maria Lagomarsino, the father of Giuseppe Lagomarsino born 30 Sep 1803 in Lumarzo, whose children, in turn, with his wife (Maria Consiglieri) are all accounted for (born between 1827 and 1844) and do include a Teresa but who was born in 1835, too late to match the 1827 birth reported in the 1848 record of marriage and in the 1877 record of death.

RIN 5657 Tomasso Lagomarsino whose wife was named Anna Maria Lagomarsino, the father of eight children born between 1768 and 1791, none of whom was named Geronima

Based on the above, it would appear appropriate to consider that the father of the Teresa Lagomarsino (mother of Giuseppe Gio Batta Ferrea) who was born on 17 Feb 1827, may have been Giuseppe Lagomarsino (RIN 6040), son of Domenico Lagomarsino (RIN 6405) and his wife Geronima Lagomarsino (RIN 5828). And also based on the above it would similarly appear appropriate to consider that the mother of the Teresa Lagomarsino (mother of Giuseppe Gio

[7] Again, standing alone, it is circular reasoning to conclude that this family group is the one that includes Geronima Lagomarsino, the mother of Teresa Lagomarsino. But the absence of other family groups that meet the criteria of having a head of household named Desiderio Lagomarsino or Tommaso Lagomarsino who in the period between about 1780 and 1711 were fathering children among whom was or could have been a daughter named Geronima at least serves to suggest that this family group (of RIN 5710) is that of Teresa's maternal grandparents. There does not appear at any time in either parish a record of birth of any female named Geronima born to a father named Tommaso and no other record other than this one of a female named Geronima born to a father named Desiderio.

[8] This Desiderio and his wife Paola had two sons named Giuseppe, one born in 1803 and the other born in 1812, with two siblings born between them, a female, Geronima, born in 1805, and a male, Giovanni Battista, born in 1809. The likelihood is that the first Giuseppe dies after 1809 and before 1812. No extant records of deaths appear for Lumarzo between 1661 and 1866 and while records of deaths in the Tasso parish are complete for the 1809-to-1812 period, no record of death of a Giuseppe Lagomarsino appears therein.

Batta Ferrea) who was born on 17 Feb 1827, may have been Geronima Lagomarsino (RIN 5828), daughter of Desiderio Lagomarsino (RIN 5710) and his wife Paola Lagomarsino (RIN 5712).

Thus, the earlier (pre-2018) research analysis had concluded that Teresa Lagomarsino's birth information was as follows:

TERESA LAGOMARSINO'S OWN BIRTH (PRE-2018 RESEARCH CONCLUSIONS, RIN 7101)
DATE	NAME	FATHER	PAT. GRANDFATHER	MOTHER	MAT. GRANDFATHER
15 Nov 1827	Teresa	Giuseppe	fu Stefano	Vittoria	di Domenico

The possibility now being explored is that of substituting out the names of Teresa's parents that had resulted from the former (pre-2018) research analysis (which had concluded, as shown in the table above, that Teresa Lagomarsino's parents were Giuseppe fu Stefano and Vittoria di Domenico) and of attaching Teresa's record to Giuseppe and Geronima as possibly her true parents:

TERESA LAGOMARSINO'S OWN BIRTH (POST-2018 RESEARCH CONCLUSIONS, RIN 6041)
DATE	NAME	FATHER	PAT. GRANDFATHER	MOTHER	MAT. GRANDFATHER
17 Feb 1827	Teresa	Giuseppe	di Domenico	Geronima	fu Desiderio

Of course, doing so would make Teresa's parentage consistent with the 18 May 1848 record of marriage which states that Teresa's mother was Geronima; but it would still leave a major discrepancy between the 17 February 1827 record of birth and the 17 May 1848 record of marriage (concerning the name of Teresa's maternal grandfather). Whereas the 17 February 1827 record of birth states that the parents of Teresa Lagomarsino were Giuseppe di Domenico and Geronima fu Desiderio, the 18 May 1848 record of marriage states that the parents of the Teresa Lagomarsino who married at that time were "del vivente Giuseppe Lagomarsini fu Andrea [not Domenico]" and "della vivente Geronima Lagomarsini fu Tommaso [not Desiderio]."

In an attempt to reconcile the records (if possible) and account for the discrepancy, focus will be made next on the identities of the godparents at the baptisms of the Teresa born on 17 February 1827 and the Teresa born on 15 November 1827, together with the identities of the godparents of the respective siblings of those two Teresas compared to the witnesses to the 1848 marriage.

In the record of marriage of the Teresa Lagomarsino married on 18 May 1848 the consenting witnesses were Giuseppe Ferrea fu Stefano and Giuseppe Lagomarsino fu Andrea. Giuseppe Ferrea fu Stefano was no doubt the groom's father. Giuseppe Lagomarsino fu Andrea is at present not identifiable, for there were five such men living (or apparently living) at that time: (1) Giuseppe b. 8 Oct 1778 of Lumarzo [RIN 6868], son of Andrea Lagomarsino and Cattarina Lagomarsino; (2) Giuseppe b. abt 1790-1821 of Lumarzo [RIN 6386], husband of Teresa Consiglieri and son of Andrea Lagomarsino; (3) Giuseppe b. abt 1801 of Lumarzo [RIN 6116], son of Andrea Lagomarsino, husband of Teresa Lagomarsino, who were parents of children born in Lumarzo between 1835 and 1854 (perhaps the most likely candidate); (4) Giuseppe b. 4 Dec 1819 of Lumarzo [RIN 5988], son of Andrea and Antonia Gattorna, who presently (2018) is not known to have married; and (5) Giuseppe b. 27 Sep 1814 of Lumarzo [RIN 5919], son of Andrea Lagomarsino and Maria Vittoria Lagomarsino, who presently (2018) is not known to have married.

In the record of birth of the Teresa Lagomarsino born on 15 November 1827, the godparents were Tommaso Lagomarsino, son of Domenico, resident of the Tasso parish, and Benedetta Lagomarsino, wife of Paolo Lagomarsino of the Lumarzo parish.

The godparents of the siblings of the Teresa Lagomarsino born on 15 November 1827 were as follows:

Maria	b. 20 Nov 1821—godfather: Pasquale Lagomarsino q. Andrea; godmother: Vittoria Crocco uxore Andrea of Tasso parish
Teresa	b. 28 Jan 1825—godfather: Andrea Crocco di Tommaso of Tasso parish; godmother: Maria Lagomarsino, daughter of Paolo of Lumarzo parish
Stefano	b. 2 Mar 1831—godfather: Giuseppe Lagomarsino di Paolo; godmother: Maria Lagomarsino uxore Giuseppe
Rosa	b. 4 Nov 1834—godfather: Paolo Lagomarsino di Giuseppe of Lumarzo parish; godmother: Benedetta Lagomarsino uxore Paolo of Lumarzo parish
Angelo Andrea	b. 19 Jun 1839—godfather: Angelo Andrea Lagomarsino, by profession a farmer, domiciled in Sori; godmother: Geronima Lagomarsino, by profession a spinner [of thread], domiciled in Lagomarsino

The three highlighted in yellow apparently are all members of the family of Paolo Lagomarsino [RIN 5867] and his wife Benedetta Lagomarsino [RIN 5869]. Maria apparently is the daughter born to Paola and Benedetta in 1799 [RIN 6652], who would have been age 25 when Teresa was born in 1825; Giuseppe apparently is the son of Paola and Benedetta in 1809 [RIN 5866], who would have been age 23 when Stefano was born in 1831; and Benedetta herself, born on 1 Sep 1776 in Lumarzo [RIN 5869] would have been age 58 when Rosa was born in 1834. However, no apparent connections or relationships can be discerned between those who were consenting witneses to the 1848 marriage and those who were godparents of Teresa and her siblings.

In the record of birth of the Teresa Lagomarsino born on 17 February 1827, the godparents were Antonio Schenone filio Sebastiani di Parqia S. Margarita de Tasso et Teresa Lagomarsino uxore d Stephani de Parqua S. Rochi de Ognio. Records of births and baptisms (or any other records) for Ognio [part of Neirone] are not available on FamilySearch for the years prior to 1838 but the records of deaths from 1838 though 1859 are available and they were searched for any reference to the death of a Stefano Lagomarsino or a Teresa Lagomarsino married to a Stefano Lagomarsino and none was found.

The names of any siblings of the Teresa Lagomarsino born on 17 February 1827 are unknown and thus the names of any godparents of any siblings of that Teresa are unknown; in the records of Tasso and Lumarzo no other Geronima appears as the wife of any man named Giuseppe Lagomarsino.

From the above analysis, it appears that none of the godparents for either of the two Teresas or of any of the siblings of the two Teresas is the same as or seems to be related to the witnesses in the 1848 record of marriage for Teresa.

In the end, therefore, deciding which Teresa Lagomarsino is the mother of Giuseppe Gio Batta Ferrea normally would be accomplished on the basis of the weight to be given to the various items of information found in the relevant records, resolving conflicts in favor of the items of information that seem more likely correct than items of information with which there is disagreement. Here follows an analysis of the weight to be given to such various items of information and it will be seen that the question apparently is resolved by reference to the identities of the persons who served as godparents to Teresa's children:

1. In the two records of deaths of men named Giuseppe Lagomarsino that appear in Tasso records between 12 January 1860 and 5 July 1864, the first one is that of the 14 September 1860 death of Giuseppe Lagomarsino, age 74, native of Tasso, domiciled in Tasso, son of "del fu Domenico of Tasso and della fu Maria Lagomarsino," for whom there is no wife or widow mentioned but for whom the declarants (informants) at the time of death were Stefano Lagomarsino, age 56, resident of Tasso, and Stefano Ferrera fu Giuseppe, age 40, resident of Tasso. The Stefano Lagomarsino, age 56, apparently is the Stefano born on 21 July 1804, the son of Andrea Lagomarsino and Violante Lagomarsino and the nephew of Paolo Lagomarsino [RIN 5867] and Benedetta Lagomarsino [RIN 5869], whose family members served as godparents of three of the siblings of the Teresa Lagomarsino born on 15 November 1827, with their daughter, Maria, serving as the godmother of Teresa, b. 28 Jan 1825, their son, Giuseppe, serving as the godfather of Stefano, b. 2 Mar 1831, and Benedetta herself, serving as godmother to Rosa, b. 4 Nov 1834.

And of the two records of deaths of men named Giuseppe Lagomarsino that appear in Tasso records between 12 January 1860 and 5 July 1864, the second one is that of the 25 November 1862 death of Giuseppe Lagomarsino, age 77, native of Lumarzo, domiciled in Tasso, son of "del fu Lorenzo and della ful Francesca Schenone," for whom the surviving wife is named Rosa Ferrera fu [Go: (?)] and for whom the declarants (informants) at the time of death were Stefano Lagomarsino, fu Sebastiano, age 50, resident of Tasso, and Angelo Lagomarsino fu Paolo, age 52, resident of Lagomarsino. The Stefano Lagomarsino, age 50, apparently is the Stefano born on 25 July 1812, the son of Sebastiano Lagomarsino [RIN 1118] and Paola Lagomarsino [RIN 1270]. The Angelo Lagomarsino, age 52, apparently is the Angelo born on 30 Jan 1812, the son of Paolo Lagomarsino [RIN 5867] and Benedetta Lagomarsino [RIN 5869], again the same Paolo and Bendetta whose family members served as godparents of three of the siblings of the Teresa Lagomarsino born on 15 November 1827, with their daughter, Maria, serving as the godmother of Teresa, b. 28 Jan 1825, their son, Giuseppe, serving as the godfather of Stefano, b. 2 Mar 1831, and Benedetta herself, serving as godmother to Rosa, b. 4 Nov 1834.

Thus, the identities of the declarants (informants) for the two deaths of the two Giuseppes who died between 12 January 1860 and 5 July 1864 do not seem to render either deceased Giuseppe more likely than the other to be, on that basis alone, the father of Teresa Lagomarsino.

2. We can place a higher degree of confidence in the report set forth in the 18 May 1848 record of Teresa's marriage that her parents were Giuseppe Lagomarsino fu Andrea domiciliato in Tasso and Geronima Lagomarsino fu Tommaso domiciliata in Tasso. While Giuseppe signed the record of marriage only with an "X" and therefore likely did not read what he was marking with his "X," it likely was at least read to him or described so that he was aware that it referred to him as Giuseppe the sone of the late Andrea. The two death records of the two Giuseppes who died between 12 January 1860 and 5 July 1864, on the other hand, would lead one to believe that the paternal grandfather of Teresa was either Domenico or Lorenzo and not Andrea. Yet, it could very well be that the Giuseppe who was the father of Teresa is neither the Giuseppe fu Domenico who died on 14 September 1860 in Tasso or the Giuseppe fu Lorenzo who died on 25 November 1862 in Tasso. Rather, Teresa's father, Giuseppe, may have died in Lumarzo and not Tasso and hence, because records of deaths are not extant for Lumarzo for that period of time, it cannot be determined whether the Giuseppe in the record of marriage (fu Andrea) is or is not confirmed by any death that once appeared in the 1860-to-1864 records of Lumarzo deaths. But because of Giuseppe's personal presence at the 1848 marriage and his apparent participation to some degree in the recordation of that marriage, the record of marriage (referring to fu Andrea) is likely to be preferred over both of the two records of deaths (fu Domenico and fu Lorenzo).

3. From the 28 May 1848 record of marriage we learn that Teresa's mother is Geronima fu Tomasso (wife of Giuseppe fu Andrea). And from the many extractions of Lagomarsino family groups in Tasso and Lumarzo records, the only family group where there is a Giuseppe Lagomarsino married to a Geronima Lagomarsino is that of the Giuseppe and Geronima who were parents of the Teresa Lagomarsino who was born on 17 February 1827. And yet, again, the exclusivity of that family group does not solve the discrepancies in the records for whereas the 18 May 1848 record of marriage for Teresa would lead one to expect that Teresa's paternal grandfather was Andrea, the 17 February 1827 record of birth of Teresa Lagomarsino leads one to expect that Teresa's paternal grandfather was Domenico.

DATE	NAME	FATHER	PAT. GRANDFATHER	MOTHER	MAT. GRANDFATHER
17 Feb 1827	Teresa	Giuseppe	di Domenico	Geronima	fu Desiderio

There does happen to be, however, one—and only one—Geronima born to a Desiderio, that of the Geronima [RIN 5828] born on 17 August 1805 to Desiderio Lagomarsino [RIN 5710] and his wife Paola Lagomarsino [RIN 5712]. And information on that family group reflects that all of their children were born between 1801 and 1820, all in Lumarzo.

Importantly, there is a record of a death that apparently occurred in 1842 in the home of one of the sons in that family group, that of Stefano (b. 1816). On 17 Aug 1842 there died a two-year-old boy named Giovanni Battista Lagomarsino, a native of Genova and son of Giuseppe Lagomarsino, a porter of wheat ("facchino del grano") domiciled in Genova, and his wife, Geronima Lagomarsino. The boy was buried the next day, 18 Aug 1842, in the Lumarzo parish cemetery.[9] If this "vivente Giuseppe Lagomarzino di professione facchine da grano domiciliato in Genova" and his wife "vivente Geronima Lagomarzino di professione filatrice domiciliata in Genova," who apparently were the parents (in about 1840) of a boy named Giovanni Battista who was buried in Lumarzo in 1842 are the same Giuseppe and Geronima who in 1848 are stated to be the parents of 20-year-old Teresa who was married in 1848, that would make Teresa the oldest or nearly the oldest of any number of children born to that couple between 1827 and 1840, a period of 13 years (easily a possible span of childbearing years for Geronima). The scenario would be that in 1827 the couple (Giuseppe and Geronima) were residents of Tasso (as stated in the 17 February 1827 record of Teresa's birth) and still in 1848 the couple still were residents of Tasso. But by 1850 or 1852 they were residents of Genova.

This connection to Genova in the 1848-1852 era seems to be confirmed by the fact that the two witnesses (not just consenting witnesses, but testimonial witnesses) were Priests from San Donato Parish Church in Genova:

> Presenti in qualità di testimonii li Rev. Antonio Benvenuto Curato in S. Donato > d'età d'anni trenta domiciliato nel Comune di Genova > e Rev. Tomasso Merani Scrista in S. Donato d'età d'anni trenta sei > domiciliato nel Comune di Genova e col consenso > dei rispettivi genitori.

But how this Genova connection furthers the analysis is not yet known.

NOTE: RIN 7103 Rosa Lagomarsino, nineteen-year-old Tasso-resident daughter of RIN 5672 Giuseppe Lagomarsino and RIN 5674 Vittoria Lagomarsino and sister of RIN 7101 Teresa Lagomarsino (mother of Giuseppe Gio Batta Ferrera), who apparently was the godmother of Ferrea Rosa, born 8 February 1854 in Tasso, herself married five years later, on 10 October 1859, to RIN 1351 Andrea Lagomarsino, son of RIN 1323 Giuseppe Lagomarsino and RIN 1324 Rosa Ferrea. Witnesses to their marriage were (1) Tasso-resident Giuseppe Ferrea fu Andrea, age 24, who could be either twenty-four-year-old Tasso-born RIN 2962 Giuseppe son of RIN 1997 Andrea Ferrera and RIN 1998 Vittoria Ferrea and no discernible relation to either Stefano Ferrea or Teresa Lagomarsino or twenty-five-year-old Tasso-born RIN 1386 Giuseppe Ferrera son of RIN 1278 Andrea Ferrera and RIN 1279 Maddalena Rosasco and no discernible relation to either Stefano Ferrea or Teresa Lagomarsino; and (2) Tasso-resident Stefano Lagomarsino di Giuseppe, age 28, who apparently is RIN 7102 Stefano the brother of RIN 7101 Teresa.

Thus, even though we can place a high degree of confidence in the report set forth in the 18 May 1848 record of Teresa's marriage that her parents were Giuseppe Lagomarsino fu Andrea domiciliato in Tasso and Geronima Lagomarsino fu Tommaso domiciliata in Tasso, and even though Giuseppe signed the record of marriage with an "X" (though he likely did not read what he was marking with his "X"), and even though it likely was at least read to him or described so that he was aware that it referred to him as Giuseppe the son of the late Andrea, and even though Giuseppe's personal presence at the 1848 marriage and he apparently participated to some degree in the recordation of that marriage, and thus even though the record of marriage (referring to Teresa's father as Giuseppe Lagomarsino fu Andrea) is likely to be preferred over both of the two records of deaths of the Giuseppe who died between 1860 and 1864 (Giuseppe fu Domenico and Giuseppe fu Lorenzo), the fact that the godmother of Teresa's own child, Rosa Ferrea, born 8 February 1854 in Tasso, was RIN 7103 Rosa Lagomarsino, nineteen-year-old Tasso-resident daughter of RIN 5672 Giuseppe Lagomarsino and RIN 5674 Vittoria Lagomarsino and sister of RIN 7101 Teresa Lagomarsino (mother of Giuseppe Gio Batta Ferrera) together with the fact that one of the witnesses to the 10 October 1859 marriage of that RIN 7103 Rosa Lagomarsino to RIN 1351 Andrea Lagomarsino, son of RIN 1323 Giuseppe Lagomarsino and RIN 1324 Rosa Ferrea was Tasso-resident Stefano Lagomarsino di Giuseppe, age 28, who apparently is RIN 7102 Stefano, the brother of RIN 7101 Teresa, allows for an important comparison of the weights of those two records. While the names of the bride's parents in the 18 May 1848 record of marriage of Teresa Lagomarsino and Stefano Ferrea clearly are reported as Giuseppe Lagomarsino fu Andrea domiciliato in Tasso and Geronima Lagomarsino fu Tommaso domiciliata in Tasso, that report may have resulted only from what the priest researched and wrote and perhaps was what he recorded only after asking Teresa her age and then looking up her record of birth (finding the wrong Teresa born in the other part of the year 1827); in short, that report may well have resulted solely from searching for and copying the information from the other 1827 record of birth. It is perhaps at best merely the result of the priest's research. On the other hand, with the identification of Teresa's own sister as the godmother of Teresa's daughter in 1854 and of Teresa's own brother as a witness five years later to the marriage of that same daughter, the weight to be given to that seems to outweigh that to be given to the report in the 1848 record of marriage.

Given that evaluation, it is concluded that the father and mother of Teresa Lagomarsino were, indeed, Giuseppe Lagomarsino (RIN 5672, son of Stefano (RIN 5673)) and Vittoria Lagomarsino (RIN 5674, daughter of Domenico (RIN 5675)), who gave birth to Teresa Lagomarsino (RIN 7101) on 15 November 1827 and not Giuseppe Lagomarsino (RIN 6040, son of Domenico (RIN 6405)) and Geronima Lagomarsino (RIN 5828, daughter of Desiderio (RIN 5710)), who gave birth to Teresa Lagomarsino (RIN 6041).
